SHERIFF PULLED OLD GUS WATERS

A Former Negro Politician Sells Whiskey and Comes to Grief.

SPENT LAST NIGHT IN JAIL.

Positive Evidence Against Him -Sheriff Cot Man, Money and Booze.

Everybody in Gainesville or hereabout. has heard of W. A. Waters-better known as "Old Gus Waters." In days that have passed, when the freedmen cut no little figure in the politics of Alachua county, "Gus" considered himself-and was considered by others-quite a politician, and even now some of the members of his race consider him "some pumpkin."

During the local option campaign which resulted in the closing of Alachua county's saloons nearly two months ago, Gus talked prohibition, and says he voted the dry ticket. About that time he went to a furniture store here and bought a been my ruin, and I'm going to quit drinking and go to eating."

HE COMMENCED SELLING.

But soon after the county went dry Gus went into the liquor business; he probably thought he was too smart to be caught up with, but he was not. It has been known for some time that he was ordering cases of whiskey from Jacksonville, and Sheriff Fennell has had an eye on him. Yesterday afternoon the Shediff saw another negro come out of Gus blind tiger with a quart flask under his coat, he demanded of the negro where he got the contents-coru whiskey-and the buyer confessed that he bought is from Gus Waters, that he paid fifty cents for it and was to pay fifty cents more. He said he had bought of Gus before The Sheaiff entered the tiger and found a case containing eight quarts of corn whiskey, four other quarts having been disposed of. He also found on the offender's person a 50 cents piece which he recognized as one he had given Presley Green, the buyer, but a short while be fore. He' took the whiskey, man and money.

Gus was taken before Indge Mason for trial, and Attorney B. A. Thrasher appeared to prosecute the case. The evidence was conclusive, and the defendant was bound over in the sum of $500 to await the action of the grand jury. He and went to eating."
